

TO THE POINT LEADERSHIP FOR WOMEN

MONASH UNIVERSITY PRATO CENTRE ITALY

SHAPING YOUR LEADERSHIP CAREER

Women today are in the throes of deciding whether the value of having a voice and influencing the way leadership is exercised balances the sacrifices and trade-offs required.

To The Point Leadership for Women is a program designed for women who first and foremost want to be the agent of their leadership career choices. It is for those who want to shape the role that women play in organisations now and in the future.

It focuses on making the right personal choices, leading in a personally authentic way, being a positive influence on others, and forging lasting leadership networks.

"I am excited by the potential women have to make a substantial contribution to the way leadership is exercised. I have watched women change the culture of their workplaces and tap into their personal resources for exercising leadership differently. I invite you to join the 2010 program and make a difference."

PROGRAM DIRECTOR

Rosamund Christie MA is an experienced director of leadership programs for women, an executive coach specialising in leadership for first-time CEOs, and an adjunct faculty member of AGSM MBA programs at the University of New South Wales.
